tion until you are exposed to it and see that it can be handled.

I had the opportunity to visit with Ron Caldwell a day or two after the ride and he informed me that he almost lost his horse Saturday night from dehydration. He told me that his horse did not drink anything before coming on our ride and then refused to drink anything at our rest stops where we had water available. Maybe his horse was uncomfortable around the large group or some other reason. It became a serious situation for Ron who had to go to Salina Saturday night after our ride and ended up spending the whole night trying to put water and electrolytes into his horse. Ron was able to get her up and gently bring her back to Salt Lake, but his plight made me realize the seriousness of being well hydrated for both the horse and rider. With hot weather coming on we need to make sure that when we ride our horses we have access to water during the day.

Now that the cold weather is behind us, we can really get out and see some of this great state we live in, and try out a few new trails. We had another great ride at Sheep Creek up Spanish Fork Canyon and the turn out was great. We had about 35 riders and all but a few were from our Mountain Ridge unit. It was a warm, but pleasant day and if your horse does not like large groups this was the ride for you to get them used to this group discipline. Your horse and yourself will never get over the discomfort of a situa-

I along with Steve Johnson, Paul and Kathy Kern and members of our Families had the opportunity to ride along with the Gunnison Valley Wagon Train. We were treated to a great dutch oven dinner with stories from some of the old timers from the area along with singing and cowboy poetry with our own Paul Kern taking a turn at the microphone. We had a great time and a slow leisurely ride of about 10 and a half miles. We need to take these opportunities when they come up because these are the memories that will last.

May your trails be clear and your vistas captivating. Ray Smith

ANNUAL PORTER ROCKWELL TRAIL PROJECT

Because of the scheduled Sheep Creek trail ride, we combined our annual Sandy Pride Day cleanup of the Porter Rockwell (UTA) trail with our monthly meeting. 14 people met at Scott and Doris Richards' home, then travelled to various points along this urban equestrian trail to move deadfall, prune, pick up trash, chop out thistle plants and generally make the trail more accessible to all users. 30 total work hours went into this project, which keeps our presence within the Salt Lake Valley developed area. Thanks to everyone who helped!

MINUTES OF THE MAY MEETING

Minutes for BCH Mountain Ridge Chapter held on May 14th 2009 at Doris Richards House started about 7:10 pm.

Leave NO Trace Training was mentioned with the deadline for the June training session at the Deer Springs Ranch of May 18th. Paula Hill and Paul Kern are still scheduled to be our trainees for leave Leave No Trace at the August 7-9 training at Hardware Ranch. Mountain Ridge Chapter will be paying the registration fee for both of these people.

The Pony Express Club has expressed an interest in gaining more members and will be having a number of activities in the up-coming months to commemorate the Pony Express.

It was mentioned that Corner Canyon will be somewhat closed to equestrian use on Monday, May 25th, Memorial Day, because of a bike race. Horse riders should be advised to use other trails that day if they feel a need to ride Corner Canyon.

We had short reports on the Look-out Pass Ride where we saw a band of wild horses and the Puddle Valley Ride and Clinic where it rained and snowed, but quite a number of members showed up anyway and had a great time and barbeque.

Due to the politics of the water company in Corner Canyon some of the rules will probably be changing. We will try to stay up with the current rules for equestrian use.

Ray received a letter from the Mountain Springs Heritage Festival which will be held June 12-13, 2009 near Coleville, Utah. They will be having a wagon train that will start at Echo Canyon on Friday and will camp in Coleville and then continue the ride to Wanship on Saturday. Any of those interested in the ride can contact Ray Smith for more details or a copy of the flyer.

Several members of Mountain Ridge will be going to the wagon train ride in Gunnison, Utah on May 22-23, 2009.

Our June breakfast and obstacle course will be held at Dimple Dell Amphitheater with Stephanie Yeager being in charge of the obstacle course and Keith and Helen Christensen will be cooking our breakfast. Stephanie indicated that she could still use a couple of people to help as judges if they will not be riding the course.

Doris Richards handed out trash bags and assigned the 12 members that showed up to the meeting to different areas of the Porter Rockwell Trail and we dismissed at that point to clean up the trail. Doris provided fresh homemade chocolate chip cookies and Ray brought sodas and water that were left over from the Puddle Valley Ride. We finished the activity about 9:00 pm.

DEHYDRATION AND HORSES

It's summer in Utah. Our horses are working, sweating, and losing water on a continual basis, particularly during exercise. Horses require 5-15 gallons of water a day, and normally drink only 2-3 gallons at a time, or less. So even if your horse drinks well at a couple of rest stops, he may still get dehydrated on the ride. Dehydration is measured by a percentage of body weight lost in the form of missing fluid. Horses generally cope relatively well with fluid loss and many will tolerate up to 5% dehydration before starting to show any signs. The first sign to notice is that your horse no longer pees, or when he does, it is less quantity and more concentrated (darker yellow) than usual.

PINCH TEST

As your horse gets dehydrated, the skin may become less elastic. Pull up a loose fold of skin on your horse's neck. If the skin flattens back into place when you let it go in less than a second, the horse is fine. If it doesn't, it means the horse is getting dehydrated. The longer the skin stays pinched up, the more dehydrated he is.

CAPILLARY REFILL TEST

Another test that is helpful is the capillary refill test. Part the horse's lips to expose the gums. If you press gently and briefly on the upper jaw with your thumb you will see the blood is forced from the gum, leaving a white or gray spot. Count how long it takes for the gum to return to its normal color. If it is longer than 2 seconds your horse may be either dehydrated, have a circulatory problem, or be going into shock.

HEART RATE

As the horse becomes more dehydrated, his heart rate may rise, because less fluid means less blood, and the heart must pump what blood there is faster to keep up with the demand for oxygen.

As dehydration progresses, the horse's performance will decrease, he will have a harder time keeping up with the other horses, may stumble, and may become more lethargic. Exhaustion and collapse may follow.

GETTING YOUR HORSE TO DRINK

Getting your horse to drink on the trail is important to keep him from getting dehydrated, however this can be harder than it seems. We've all heard the old adage: 'You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink.' that surely represents the frustration our forebears experienced with their equine transportation!

Encourage your horse to drink before he gets dehydrated, even if he doesn't act ravenously thirsty when you get to water. Some horses are finicky about strange water, water that is or isn't flowing, stream banks, etc. Many are more excited about the other horses around them than the water, perhaps fearing they will be left behind if they stop to drink.

Some suggestions are to ask the rider(s) in front of you to turn their horses to face yours after crossing a stream, and wait patiently for yours to drink. If others are pushing you from behind, you may have to move to the side to make room for others, or perhaps cross over the stream with your horse and then turn to drink. Then when your horse has had a drink, turn and face the next rider(s), so their horses will also drink. Remember that even if your horse has a long, satisfying drink, he is unlikely to have drunk more than 2-3 gallons, and more water will be needed later. Allow and encourage your horse to drink often.

Obviously, a dehydrated horse needs to drink immediately. Particularly if he got dehydrated quickly (a strenuous trail on a hot day), his body may not signal him that it is thirsty before he is already badly dehydrated. Replacing lost electrolytes with a syringe-administered supplement is common practice in endurance competition. Besides balancing the body's electrolytes, this makes the horse thirsty, and encourages drinking. Many endurance riders carry a syringe of electrolytes with them, which might not be a bad idea if your horse is prone to getting dehydrated. Consult your veterinarian on the proper use of electrolytes, because you can also hurt your horse by incorrect or excessive use.

Another suggestion from Michigan State Extension is : Dissolve 1/4 cup of table salt, in about 6 ounces of hot tap water, let cool slightly, and syringe the salt water into the horse's mouth.....the horse will be drinking within 10-20 minutes . Stand by and be prepared to refill the bucket for a good long time, as this concoction will make him very thirsty.

HOW MUCH WATER IS TOO MUCH?

I looked all over the internet for this answer, and it seemed that short of extreme competition sports like racing, you can generally let your horse drink all of the water (even cold water) he wants during or after a ride.

MOUNTAIN RIDGE BCH 2009 SCHEDULE

Cow Pokes new Bryce Canyon — Ride it Again June 18-21

If you are helping Stephanie set up the course, please meet at 8:00 at the amphitheater parking lot.

Thursday, June 11: Monthly meeting, 7 pm, race track bldg, SL Equestrian Center

Thur-Saturday: June 18-21: Monthly ride and campout, near Bryce Canyon, camp at Ray Smith Property, Info, Ray Smith, 969-0758, ray-scki@yahoo.com

Ray will send an email with directions. If you don't receive email, call Ray, and he will give you directions. There are 5 bunks left available for women in the bunk house. If you would like one, contact Ray to be sure they are still available. Contribution is $10/day to cover the expenses of turning on the water and electric.

We will ride Friday and Saturday. Be ready to ride at 10.

Thursday, July 9: Monthly meeting, 7 pm, race track bldg, SL Equestrian Center

Fri-Saturday, July 10-11: Service Project, Current Creek State BCHU Service Project. Paula Hill, trail boss, details www.bchu.com

Saturday, July 18: Monthly ride, Bench Creek, South of Woodland, info Steve Johnson, 801-541-6008

Thur-Saturday, July 23-26: Monthly ride and campout, Island Park, ID, Paul Kern Property (Rides of 12 & 20 miles; not for the faint of heart), info Paul Kern, 942-8928 kernpr@gmail.com

Fit horses will be needed, at least one ride is 20 miles round trip and goes from 9,000 ft to 10,500 ft in elevation.

IF YOU WANT TO GO ON THIS

TRIP: (1) Email Paul Kern right away. When you get your coggins, tell him. (2) Get your Coggins test. (3) Get a brand inspection from the Utah Dept of Agriculture (801) 538-7166 .

Those who go will need a Coggins (good for 6-12 months, depending on the state) and health certificate (good for 30 days). Your vet needs to call Montana for a trip permit number that goes on the health certificate. They will need to know where we are going: Lee Metcalf Wilderness Area and the Gallatian River drainage of Yellowstone Park. A couple weeks before the trip, we will send you the specifics of the location of where we will be to add to your trip permit. You may also need a travel permit for Idaho. Ask your vet for assistance.

You can trailer camp or pitch a tent or bunk in cabins, or use rental cabins around the corner. If you want to fish, you'll need a state license and/or one for fishing in the park.

We will pull the horse trailers into Paul's large pasture, but horses will need to be contained at the trailers. You can high line between trailers, tie your horse to the trailer, or bring an electric fence.

Fri-Sunday, August 7-9: Bench Creek Pack Trip. Self Support Pack Trip (Not Catered), info Keith Christiansen 571-6129

August 7 - 9, 2009 - Leave No Trace Training at Hardware Ranch Paula Hill and Paul Kern have indicated they would like to go for training. Anyone else, contact Ray Smith. rayscki@yahoo.com, 969-0758.

RIDING STABLES IN HOLLADAY

Thank you very much to the 22 people who wrote letters last month in support of the stables in Holladay! It mattered! The proposed master plans for Big Cottonwood Regional Park all include the stables, thanks to you. Now I need one more set of letters. Please take a look at the options for this park. They are posted here: www.lldi-ut.com/projects/bigcottonwood.htm

There are three alternatives there: #1: Clean and maintain existing run down facilities in the park #2: Add a few additional uses (additional walking trails, a splash pool, a fish pond, a couple of ball fields) #3: Change the parks by adding additional sports facilities, and a walking trail through the horse areas.

Public input is now sought.

Please an email to: [mark vlasic \[markv@ldi-ut.com\]](mailto:mark_vlasic@ldi-ut.com) giving him your opinion. Please reiterate the desire to maintain the horse facilities in their existing configuration. They specifically said that pieces from each alternative plan can be incorporated into the final design. So if you have an opinion about any of the other plan aspects, please include that too. Thanks for your letters!
